News of Day

In Indiana

(TIMES BUREAU AT STATE CAPITAL)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 25.—One of the unheralded, but nevertheless vital features of the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic held in Indianapolis this week, is the political demonstrations of the patriotic veterans of '61.

A poll of these men, who for sixty years have lived and breathed loyalty to American institutions and have gone to the ballot boxes with only one thought in mind—the preservation of the government by the administration of wise leaders—would have been most interesting in view of the nearness of the election. It would also have been fairly representative of the nation as these men were gathered from all the states that dominate the choice of a national ticket.

But, of course, such a poll was not, and could not have been taken at a gathering of this character. Yet, by accident, the result of a poll was obtained during the big G. A. R. parade Wednesday.

It happens that the Harding Club of Indianapolis has its headquarters on Monument Circle. Several weeks ago the club placed a large sign in front of its headquarters. One of the features of the sign is a huge likeness of Senator Harding.

As the veterans marched down Meridian street and swung into the Circle they beheld this picture of Harding. As the first department of the feeble old men caught a glimpse of the picture their hats, almost to a man, were lifted to the Republican candidate for president. Spontaneously they lifted their voices in cheering the candidate.

Observers in the crowds on the Circle at first were of the opinion that the incident might be confined to the first department. This did not prove to be true for as each department of the veterans passed the same thing occurred. The demonstration left no doubt that these men, and the sentiment of those near and dear to them, were in sympathy with the Republican candidate.

One of the veterans in the parade must have experienced one of the greatest thrills that can come to the father of a man. This marcher was no other than George T. Harding, the father of the Republican candidate. It had been planned to have Dr. Harding ride in an automobile, but he refused because he desired to walk with his comrades.

Another very accurate method of arriving at the sentiment of the people regarding their political preferences is to watch the way in which political jokes get over in a theater.

At one of the attractions in Indianapolis this week a political joke is given. The joke of itself was of little moment, but the way in which it took was very significant. One of the comedians asks the other if he knows that Cox is running for President. The other pretends not to hear and asks what was the question. At this point the comedian putting the question says:

"Are you hard of hearing?"

"No," the other replies, "I can hear Harding."

This veiled prediction of Harding's success in November brought a roar of applause from the big audience at each performance. The mention of Cox did not even bring applause from a single man or woman in the theater.

SOVIET RUSSIA

MORE DRY THAN U. S. IS

BY NEWTON C. PARKE
(STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)
PARIS, Sept. 25.—Soviet Russia is more "dry" than even the U. S. of America with its prohibition law, according to a declaration made today by Marcel Cachin, French Communist leader, who recently returned from a trip to Russia.

M. Cachin denied that religion had been suppressed by the Moscow Soviet government. He said that persons were at liberty to worship in any manner they wished.

"The policy of the Soviets towards the various churches is inspired by the traditional idea of socialism, which we have affirmed a thousand times in our meetings and our propaganda," said M. Cachin.

"The results obtained in the past three years have been important. Doubtless the socialists are right when they say a longer trial is necessary to determine the outcome of experiments in religion, but numerous signs indicated the wisdom of policy the workers government which seems to have found a practical solution of the problem."

PROMINENT BRITISHERS ARRIVE TO JOIN PILGRIM CELEBRATION

This group of well known personages has arrived from England to take part in the celebration now on of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims.

They will visit many places of interest in the east while here. Sir A. E. Shipley is vice chancellor of Cambridge University. Lord and Lady Rathcreeden head the party. Admiral Grant was in charge of the U. S. The average man drinks hardly anything but tea. The French traveler in Russia misses his wine, for the Soviets reserve wine for the sick only. It is not treated as an ordinary beverage.

"At Moscow, at the Kremlin gate, is a sanctuary of the Virgin Mary that is very well known throughout Russia. People used to travel to this sanctuary from all parts of the country. It is still open, but opposite to it, the following inscription has been cut into a wall with a chisel:

THOMAS TAGGART

Democratic Candidate for U.S. Senator

With Cox he stands on the Democratic Platform to insist that America shall do her part for peace, justice, order and stability—the honest fruits of victory.

With Cox, he will continue to fight as he did in 1916 to protect the taxpayer against old-time unbusinesslike raids on the Treasury. He runs on his record.

I shall always be found using my best efforts in cutting off useless or extravagant appropriations.—Thomas Taggart.

ASKS MASONS TO HELP

KEEP AMERICA SAFE

Marshall Speaks at Meeting of Council. Lowden Also A Speaker

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—An appeal to the Masonic fraternity to "keep America safe" was made by Vice-President Marshall in an address at the banquet of the Supreme Council. Thirty-third Degree, Scottish Rite Masons for the northern Masonic Jurisdiction of America.

Other speakers were Governor Lowden, of Illinois, and Barton Smith, of Toledo, sovereign grand commander of the Supreme Council.

"When Vice-President Marshall was introduced by the toastmaster as an 'official,' he said:

"To call the Vice-President of the United States an official is an outrage. Bring your son up to become a President of the United States, but don't train him for the vice-presidency. Give the lad a fair chance."

He closed with an appeal to "search your soul and see what you can find to do that this country shall endure, for there are none who can and will keep America safe better than you."
